

Structured Screening for Developmental Delays and Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASDs)

Developmental surveillance and screening for developmental delays and ASDs should be conducted at intervals which meet the standards of medical practice as established by the recognized medical organizations involved in child health care, primarily the American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP).

According to the AAP, structured screening for developmental delays and ASDs includes the use of standardized, scientifically validated tools to aid in early identification and treatment. Structured screening focuses on assessing specific developmental milestones in language and cognitive abilities, fine and gross motor skills, and social interactions as well as signs and symptoms of ASDs.

Providers should also conduct structured screening outside of the recommended screening periodicities if medically necessary.
